

A Message from Jan Demonsy

Gloria and I are happy to report that the August Planning Meeting was a successful collaboration of “great minds” joining to evaluate progress on last year’s Planning Meeting goals and brainstorm about new targets for 2019-2020. The past year’s goals focused on getting out the vote (GOTV), revamping communication/marketing materials, fundraising, and engaging with Cal State University Channel Islands. As a group, we all deserve a pat on the back! Progress was made toward each.

In particular, we “rocked” at GOTV activities with voter registration volunteers, postcard parties, “womaning” the polls and marching for causes. Six members ran for office, three successfully, and one is currently running for County Supervisor. We also revamped our marketing materials; the new tri-fold flyer succinctly explains our AAUW mission, branch activities and opportunities for learning and socializing. We appeared at community events and hosted three summer gatherings for existing and new members.

For the new 2019-20 objectives, separate groups focused on: Programs, Membership, Advocacy and Fundraising. In Programs, GOTV continues to be a focus, as does the 2020 Census and the 100th Anniversary of Women’s Suffrage.. Women’s health in mind, body and spirit was also discussed. The Membership group generated two ideas to help initiate new members – new member packets and a new member survey – both ideas were promptly staffed by volunteers. The Advocacy group discussed tracking legislative bills, visiting legislators and posting representatives’ ratings. Ideas generated by the Fundraising group included corporate sponsors, a silent auction, an eat-out fundraiser and a yard sale.

More great news!! We have a new Camarillo location for our four General Meetings in 2019-20. Our Programs Chair made a deal with the director of Studio Channel Islands Art Center on Ventura Boulevard. It is a large venue with frequently changing art exhibitions. Further, our four General Meetings in October, February, April and May will be scheduled on the first Monday of each month so you can calendar them now.

Finally, is it just me, or is anyone else surprised it’s already September? Life seems to fly by, but the fall season is a special one. As one anonymous wise person said, “Autumn shows us how beautiful it is to let things go.” So, we have a great “letting go” opportunity for all of you. On 9/21/19, our branch will host a “Huge Yard Sale” with all proceeds benefitting the Women in History program. We need donations of your “extra stuff” and will offer a pick-up service if needed. For further donation guidelines, volunteer information and contact numbers see inside the Beacon.

Here’s to Letting Extra Stuff Go,

Jan (new email address: aauwcamarillo.copresident@gmail.com)

Gender Alone Is Not Enough

A 2014 study by the Level Playing Field Institute found that low-income high school girls of color (Black and Latina/x) in a challenging STEM program felt racial barriers were greater obstacles than gender-based barriers to pursuing tech and other STEM careers. And, they weren't wrong. More and more women are pursuing STEM careers, but racial and ethnic minority groups are still grossly underrepresented.

Minority groups are underrepresented in the workforce across America, and they face challenges and discrimination their white peers do not. At work, women of color experience a greater wage gap; rarely hold leadership positions; are more likely to experience workplace harassment; and are often presumed to be less qualified despite their credentials and performance. And, discrimination is not limited to the workplace but occurs in the areas of education, healthcare, housing, voter rights, childcare, economic security, and more.

Women are diverse, and we are defined by more than our gender. On top of gender are layers of race, ethnicity, sexuality, age, class, nationality, mental and physical ability, financial status and more. The way in which these layers interact and are compounded, shaping the discrimination and oppression we face individually as women, is called “intersectionality.” Sexism, racism and other -isms are not experienced separately in a silo. If I’m a black woman, I have some disadvantages because I’m a woman and some disadvantages because I’m black. But I also have some disadvantages specifically because I’m a black woman, which neither black men nor white women must deal with.

A singular focus on one identity — gender — detracts from our ability to solve broader systemic problems, correct biases and obstacles, and ensure an equal playing field for all. “Intersectional feminism” calls on us to be intentional about taking time to learn about experiences that are different from our own, encouraging each unique voice to be heard and validated.

As an organization, when we discuss the needs of women, we must include the perspectives of ALL women. “AAUW supports efforts to improve racial, ethnic, and gender justice and will work to eradicate intersectional bias as well. This includes creating a diverse culture of involvement, respect, inclusion and connection, where the richness of ideas, backgrounds and perspectives is fully appreciated and utilized.” (2019-2020 AAUW Public Policy Priorities). To that end, AAUW Camarillo is hosting “Empowering Latinas” panel discussion at our October 7th general meeting. Details on the next page.

Learning about others’ experiences and examining the workings of our society, even if it feels uncomfortable sometimes, equips us to better understand and solve systemic problems. At the end of the day, being an advocate for equity and equality for ALL women and girls requires curiosity, compassion, and continual introspection. In many ways, it’s an ongoing conversation with yourself in understanding how your own multiple identities shape who you are and how you show up in the world.

October General Meeting and Program

EMPOWERING LATINAS

WHEN: Monday, October 7, 2019

TIME: 7:00 – 9:00 PM

WHERE: Studio Channel Islands in the Blackboard Gallery
2222 Ventura Blvd, Camarillo, CA

As diverse women, we are defined by more than our gender. There are layers of race, ethnicity, age, sexuality, ability, financial status and more. When we discuss the needs of women, we must include the perspectives of all women. This general meeting will feature a panel discussion with four exceptional, empowered and empowering, Latina/x first-generation university grads who are giving back to their communities. Come hear their stories spotlighting personal challenges and triumphs and learn about local university and community programs that assist Latina/x students and the Latinx community at large. We are excited to welcome panelists:

- Michelle Hasendonckx, EdD, Assistant Director, Student Academic Success & Equity Initiatives, California State University Channel Islands
- Martita Martinez-Bravo, MA, PsyD, Director, Founding Board of KidSTREAM; Executive Director, Social Justice Fund for Ventura County
- Teresa Amescua-Smith, MS, CCC-SLP, Speech / Language Pathologist
- Adrienne Arquivio-Morgan, MA, Project Director, Collaborative for Hispanics in Higher Education & Student Success (CHESS), California Lutheran University

AAUW is committed to creating a diverse culture of involvement, respect, inclusion and connection, where the richness of ideas, backgrounds and perspectives is fully appreciated and utilized. Learning about others' experiences and examining the workings of our society, even if it feels uncomfortable sometimes, equips us to better understand and solve systemic problems, correct collective biases and ensure an equal playing field for all. What Are YOUR Superpowers??

What is one of your greatest strengths? What do you love to do and are really good at? Those are your superpowers! Women have a lot of them, but we tend to focus on where we're lacking rather than where we're excelling.

We did introductions at our planning meeting that included sharing our superpowers, then thinking about how to use them in AAUW! We have a diverse, energetic, organized, and motivating group of leaders in our midst. Come to Kick Off and see how you can use your superpowers for equity for women and girls!

AAUW Camarillo Receives Recognition as a STEM Champion in VC!

We will be honored by the Ventura County STEM Network (VC STEM) as a 2019 STEM Champion on Thursday, September 19 at the Oxnard College Performing Arts Center as part of VC STEM's annual STEAMtastic Celebration. The STEM Champion award recognizes "key champions of high- quality STEM learning." In addition to Tech Trek, AAUW supports STEM through Creative Arts Workshop, Women in History, and Knowledge Bowl. See link below for info on registering for the event.

HUGE AAUW YARD SALE Saturday, Sept. 21 in Thousand Oaks

Come one & come all -- donate your "extra stuff" to our AAUW Yard Sale on 9/21/19 from 9:00 am to 2:00 pm on the long driveway of Ladeane Taylor, 1831 Wellesley Dr., Thousand Oaks, CA 91360. Clean out those closets, grab that garage junk, attack the attic, and forage through the family room. We have a pick-up service if needed. For more information on dropping off goods or for pick-up please call Karen Partow, 818-636-5402.

Interested in helping organize for the Community Rummage Sale in Camarillo Oct 12? Or want to host a sale in Camarillo to benefit AAUW? Contact Jan Demonsy with interests or other questions.

Authors' Day, November 16, 2019

Grab your tickets at our Kickoff on September 8th. Please help us to make this year's fundraiser another huge success, so we may continue to award scholarships to deserving women at CSUCI and send at least ten or more bright young 8th grade girls to participate in Tech Trek classes at UCSB during the summer!

Bring your friends and neighbors! Sign up for a table of 9 and have a fun afternoon. It's a great activity for book groups! Authors' Day includes a full hot lunch, four talented author/speakers, available books from Mrs. Figs' Bookworm, door prizes, opportunity baskets, and autograph time. I hope to see you there. For more information contact Diana Dingler at (805) 987-8013. This year's authors are:

Nicole Mones - A newly launched textile business took her to China in 1977, after the end of the cultural revolution. She traded textiles with them for 18 years before she turned to writing about that country in the form of novels, nonfiction, and articles about Chinese cuisine. She is a member of the National Committee on U.S.-China Relations.

Paddy Hirsch - He is a fiction and nonfiction author, journalist, web video host, financial blogger, and a commentator on the economy and financial markets. He was a 2014 winner of the Edward R. Murrow award for excellence in reporting.

Diane Mautner - She is an author, playwright, and speech and language specialist by trade. She has written three books, one being the acclaimed, fabulously illustrated, children's book Prisoner #147 about a mischievous raccoon – an exciting adventure from beginning to end.

Alan Jacobson - He is an American author of mystery, suspense, thriller and action novels. Among his works are the FBI profiler Karen Vail series and the OPSIG Team Black series, as well as stand-alone books and short stories.

More For Authors' Day

We are still collecting your fairly new hardback or trade paper back books to use as part of our table decorations. Please bring them to the home of Diana Dingler, 938 Fairchild Avenue, and place them in the drop box at the front gate.

APRONS FOUND! The six lovely aprons that Celina Biniiaz made for our opportunity prize ticket sellers to wear have been found. Many thanks. Six others that we used in the past are still MIA, so contact Diana if you come across them in a linen closet!

P.M Book Review

Our first meeting of the new season will be held on Monday, September 16th at 7:00 p.m. at the home of Jane Akune. Please call or send her an email if you plan to attend or not [805 482-2602]. At this first meeting, we will set the schedule for the new season, as well as discuss our first selection Where the Crawdads Sing by Delia Owens. All are welcome. Contact Diana Dingler with questions at 805 987-8013.

Bridge is Back!

We start playing again after the summer break on Friday, September 13th at the home of Jeanne Biggs. On September 27th we will be at the home of Diana Hagen.

We play on the second and fourth Fridays of most months. If you are interested in playing with our group, please contact Nancy Jaeger at (805) 484-3778 or nancyjaeger@verizon.net. We can always use substitutes if you cannot play regularly.

On August 22, we recognized Black Women's Equal Pay day. Black women had to work all of 2018 and until this day in 2019 to catch up with what white men were paid in 2018 alone. AAUW's salary negotiation tool can help narrow that gap. Click here to check out Work Smart, AAUW's free online salary negotiation tool! Share with at least 5 people you know.

Public Good, not Public Charge Kathy Long, Public Policy Chair

Emma Lazarus, wrote "The New Colossus" honoring the Statute of Liberty:

Not like the brazen giant of Greek fame,
With conquering limbs astride from land to land;
Here at our sea-washed, sunset gates shall stand
A mighty woman with a torch, whose flame
Is the imprisoned lightning, and her name
Mother of Exiles. From her beacon-hand
Glows world-wide welcome; her mild eyes command
The air-bridged harbor that twin cities frame.

"Keep, ancient lands, your storied pomp!" cries she
With silent lips. "Give me your tired, your poor,
Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free,
The wretched refuse of your teeming shore.
Send these, the homeless, tempest-tost to me,
I lift my lamp beside the golden door!"

The phrase "Give me..." has raised lots of discourse nationwide, challenging our long-founded "open doors" to immigrants, searching out a better life, and eventually becoming the fabric of the American way of life. The White House/Administration has taken "rule change" administratively to circumvent the legislative process from open discussion and debate. The most recent one is proposed through the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) is: Inadmissibility on Public Charge Grounds. This changes the 1996 rule and would expand the definition of Public Charge, adding new negative factors that would be considered when a federal official considers immigration status. Under the rule, if an immigrant is here LEGALLY, applies for or receives certain federal non-cash benefits they are legally eligible to receive, i.e. food stamps, health care, federally subsidized housing, Medi-Cal, their immigrant status could be challenged and extension refused. (cont'd next page)

Public Charge policies have been fought many times. In 1996 the federal act codified the public charge factors that had been in place for many years and were reaffirmed again in 1999. This proposed new policy would also add a complex set of income and demographic factors in determining public charge: consideration of age, English proficiency, and disability. So, who will feel the pain from this change –children and families here legally! Worse health outcomes, including increased prevalence of obesity and malnutrition, especially for pregnant or breastfeeding women, infants or children, and increased rates of poverty could be the negative impacts of this rule on our communities. The safety net of care for our poorest members of our communities would collapse.

Economic impacts would be felt with this rule change, in reduced use of food stamps –for every $1 of benefits, generates $1.79 in local economy –estimates from U.S. Dept of Agriculture. Jobs would be loss from the reduction of federal benefits utilized and there would be a decrease in state and local revenues. There would be an additional administrative burden by local governments in tracking the changes.

Over decades we have learned that our community is safer, healthier and more robust when we help all those in need, especially our children. This rule is on track to go into effect mid-October. Our state association of counties, County Welfare Directors, County Health Executives Association of CA and the CA Association of Public Hospitals and Health Systems have all gone on record opposing this policy change. Again, this was generated from DHS without legislative hearings or public transparency! Two California counties have filed lawsuits to date. You can let your voice be heard by sending emails to Congresswoman Julia Brownley at juliabrownley@house.gov An administrative rule change this significant removes true democracy from our leaders and communities.

Great Decisions

STATE OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT AND DIPLOMACY

Friday, September 27th, 3:30-5:00 p.m.

Leisure Village's Recreation Center (Garden Room)

During the Trump administration, the usual ways of conducting diplomacy have been upended. Many positions in the State Department have never been filled, and meetings with foreign leaders such as Kim Jong-un and Vladimir Putin have been undertaken with little advance planning. What effect are these changes having now, and how will they affect ongoing relationships between the United States and its allies and adversaries?

Our chapter's Great Decisions meetings – the fourth Friday of each month -- are informal and invite discussion. First, we read a brief chapter in our booklet. When we meet, we watch a 20-minute video on the month's topic and then discuss it for about an hour. This is a safe, informative, and non-political venue to discuss important and current foreign policy matters. No experience is necessary! Please do contact one of us if you would like to attend, so we can put your name on the guard gate list at Leisure Village.

For more information, please contact any of the following chapter members:

- Nancy Walters nejwalters285@gmail.com (805) 465-0362,
- Ann Wasson amwasson@gmail.com (805) 419-4509, or

Seeking Members for Branch Fundraising Committee

The Camarillo AAUW Fundraising Committee would serve to generate philanthropic development and donor stewardship to foster branch sustainability and support its various programs. The committee would have an active and collaborative role in planning fundraising events, identifying grant opportunities, and submitting grant applications. Participation in National AAUW fundraising training may be helpful. If you're interested, please contact Jan Demonsy at 805-419-4607, or email pocaterraj@aol.com.

SELLING "STUFF" ODE TO THE AAUW YARD SALE

*We're having a big sale
And it's gonna be such fun,
Selling all the "Stuff"
Culled from everyone.
Some have extra clothes,
And others extra art;
Shoes and sheets and silver,
With all of those we part.
We're making lots of money
By selling things we'd toss,
And all goes to our club --
There's a win without a loss!*

Member News: Engineering Film Dream Big in Santa Barbara

From AAUW member (and civil engineer) Marta Alvarez – The American Society of Civil Engineers (ASCE) Santa Barbara-Ventura will be hosting a showing of ASCE's Dream Big at Night Lizard Brewing Company in Santa Barbara Tuesday, Sept. 10 from 7-9. This film was produced by ASCE to show viewers that engineering can be an exciting, creative, and heroic realm where the optimists of today are creating the life-saving, world-altering marvels that will make for a safer, more connected, more equal, and even more awe-inspiring tomorrow. From the Great Wall of China and the world's tallest buildings, to underwater robots, solar cars and smart, sustainable cities, Dream Big celebrates the human ingenuity behind engineering marvels big and small, and reveals the heart that drives engineers to create better lives for people around the world. Watch the trailer here.

This is perfect for children to get excited about engineering and see the people behind the projects that shape our world. This is an event for the whole family so bring the little ones to enjoy this film. And if you don't have kids, feel free to come as well. This film gives a new perspective to even the most experienced of engineers.

Find more details about the event here.
